

I am writing to state that the FCC shouldn't pass any new law that would lessen Indiana's (or any other state) current laws on telemarketers annoying us at home. Ever since putting my name on Indiana's "Do Not Call List" I have not received any phone calls at home. You cannot get much better than that, so I propose that any law you pass is not going to weaken other current state laws. Doing something like that makes absolutely no sense at all.
